TEMPLE EMANUEL

A sacred Jewish journey to enrich lives.

FROM OUR TEMPLE RABBI

Sukkah: Prototype for Creating a Home

The solemnity of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur now give way to the creativity and joyous celebrations of Sukkot and Simchat Torah. We are commanded to construct “temporary booths” to dwell in so as to connect with our ancestral roots and experiences. The Sukkah is to become our “home” for the week. We have the obligations to eat, study and perhaps even sleep in the Sukkah. It is to become sukkat sh'lomeicha – a physical reminder of God's sheltering presence in our lives.

The Sukkah can take-on many shapes, sizes and décor. Whether it be a communal or individual Sukkah, part of the fun is creating the design, constructing and decorating this temporary home. Reciting the blessings, shaking the Lulav and Etrog, add to the significance of this celebration. The partially exposed roof and sides of the Sukkah remind us of the temporary and fragile nature of life.

The Sukkah, as a provisional structure, stands in juxtaposition to our houses. And yet, the blessings, rituals and joy that we experience in the Sukkah can (and should) transfer into our homes. A beautiful prayer written by Rabbi Sidney Greenberg titled “Blessing For Our Homes” speaks to the qualitative distinction between a house and a home:

Keep us ever mindful that our house is built of mortar and wood and brick, but our home is built by truth and trust and faithfulness.

Teach us that the clash of wills and the conflict of purposes are not softened by thick rugs of heavy drapes, but by patience, understanding and compassion.

Grant us the wisdom to know that our home is as spacious as our hearts, as bright as our dispositions, as cheerful as our hopes.

May our home never grow so small that there is no room for forgiveness, for tenderness, for a generous supply of words of appreciation and praise.

May our home never grow so large that we lose sight of each other's needs, fears, and dreams.

Help us to furnish our home with the music of laughter, the joy of kindness, the sanctity of our ancient traditions.

Help us to decorate our homes with harmony to provide beauty and with constancy to provide security.

Help us to make our home a sanctuary of peace and contentment in which God's presence may always abide.

May all of us, throughout the year find peaceful shelter under God's sheltering presence.

L'Shalom, Rabbi Mathew D. Michaels

FROM OUR TEMPLE PRESIDENT

Temple Emanuel's Trio of Ingredients (Flexibility, Spirituality & Audacious Hospitality)

Excerpt from Temple President's Address to the Congregation at Erev of Rosh Hashanah Services: Shanah Tovah! It's my pleasure to welcome you to Temple Emanuel as we start our High Holiday celebration. I would also like to welcome any guests and it is my hope that you will enjoy this evenings Erev of Rosh Hashanah service. I also hope that everyone will stay afterwards to mingle at the Reception hosted by the Board of Trustees and their spouses.

Now that we have all the formalities out of the way, let me take this opportunity to introduce myself for those of you who don't know me. I'm Cheryl Barenberg, President of Temple Emanuel. I have had the honor and privilege to serve our congregation for the past 20 months and I have approximately 4 months left in my term. I mention this because last year on Rosh Hashanah morning I had the opportunity to sit next to a beloved member of our congregation, Ralph Night. I share this because Ralph, may his memory be a blessing, held a special place in my heart. He was a dear friend and served as a moral compass for me when I had questions regarding Temple issues. I remember vividly the day Ralph shared his concerns regarding the fact that we no longer had a full-time Rabbi. It was last year on Rosh Hashanah morning that Ralph leaned over and said I would like to share something with you before we start. Of course I said what. He reminded me of our conversation we had back in February regarding as he called it "our Rabbi situation". Ralph said, I owe you an apology. I said for what and he said your decision to secure Rabbi Michaels as our Rabbi and spiritual leader. He has served this congregation well and has been the glue that kept our congregation moving forward. It was a wise choice even when I thought it wasn't. I told Ralph he owed me no apology and it was his guidance and candor over those many months that helped me realize being Temple President is not about making the easy decisions; rather it is about making a decision based upon a duty.

I did not become President of our congregation to receive accolades for a job "well done". Rather I became President of Temple Emanuel because it was my duty to serve this congregation and this community to the best of my ability. Hopefully, I have been able to meet this expectation, this duty that was passed to me by our previous Presidents.

I would like to share with you a question that is frequently asked of me when people find out I am Temple President. They always ask why, what made you do that. I have given that much thought. All I can say is that even though I find it very frustrating at times, the rewards of serving a congregation that celebrated its 125th anniversary this past January far exceeds the disagreements or not so popular or not so easy decisions that a leader must make. These sometimes difficult decisions remind me of the changing seasons. As we move from the heat and humidity of summer to the cooler temperatures of fall, so too are we moving through the changes of the Jewish season. We celebrate the New Year with the joyful oneness of our faith and each other. We look into ourselves, at our miss-steps both in action and deed, and ask for forgiveness. We give ourselves a fresh slate to start anew. As we reflect and rededicate ourselves may the spirit of our congregation strengthen you and your family and bring us all together in peace and love. May you and your family be blessed with love and joy as the sounding of the Shofar brings us a New Year.

On Rosh Hashanah it is written...On Yom Kippur it is sealed. May it be written and may it be sealed that you have a new year that brings fulfillment and joy, peace and prosperity, health and wisdom.

Shanah Tovah!

Cheryl

TEMPLE EMANUEL SOCIAL JUSTICE UPDATE (OCTOBER 2019)

Temple Emanuel Social Justice Committee (TESJ) has a tradition of makin' a mitzvah difference as part of Temple Emanuel's Love Thy Neighbor initiative. Here's what's cookin' on the TESJ Menu of Projects for 2019...filled with flexibility, spirituality and audacious hospitality, the key ingredients of President Cheryl's term.

2019

- Disaster Relief, a tradition of Temple Emanuel: In thoughtful consideration of how to help the people of the Bahamas post-Hurricane Dorian, $1,000 has been shared equally from Temple Emanuel Social Justice Fund to two organizations of Veterans: Team Rubicon, composed of Veterans of U.S. Armed Forces, and IsraAID, composed of Veterans of IDF (Israel Defense Force). Both groups of Veterans had come post-Tropical Storm Harvey to Beaumont and Southeast Texas to offer their mitzvah service-above-self to us, to our friends, and to our neighbors! Now and until their mission is complete, Team Rubicon and IsraAID will be busy at work in the Bahamas! THANK YOU for your support of Temple Emanuel Social Justice Fund!
- The High Holiday Food Drive, a tradition of Temple Emanuel: From the first Shabbat of September to the Shabbat of the Sukkot Dinner in October, please consider sharing (1) food and/or water for the clients of Southeast Texas Food Bank or (2) check payable to Southeast Texas Food Bank and/or to MAZON, the Jewish response to hunger, and/or to Temple Social Justice Fund for the purpose of sharing with Southeast Texas Food Bank and/or (3) travel-size toiletries for the clients of Henry's Place, one of the programs of Some Other Place. PLEASE look in this bulletin for the food list suggestions for SETX Food Bank. THANK YOU for working together to fill the stage in Swerdlow-Roosth Social Hall! THANK YOU to Jane Kaulfus and Wilton Allen for all prep work for this project!

We appreciate your support of your favorite ala carte options on our mitzvot menu!

Dear Friends of Temple Emanuel Sisterhood,

THANK YOU for your support of the 5780/2019 Book of Remembrance and Yizkor Memorial Supplement...a Project of Temple Emanuel Sisterhood!

Support for this Temple Emanuel Sisterhood Project came from near and far! It came from members, former members, and former students of Kol Israel, Rodef Shalom and Temple Emanuel; and it came from Friends of Temple Emanuel!

- THANK YOU for your donation In Loving Memory of your loved ones!
- THANK YOU for remembering victims of the Holocaust and all who have been victims of terrorism!
- THANK YOU to the family of Ralph Night and to the family of Mongie and Lenny Swartz and all their loved ones for the full-page Memorial Tributes!

With your help and the help of all whose names are in this year's Memorial Book, Temple Emanuel Sisterhood's outreach will be shared widely, especially with our camper-aged children in the form of campership incentives and scholarships to attend Jewish camps...where magic happens!

Sisterhood is proud to be part of the leadership team of Temple Emanuel, following in the footsteps of those who came before us whose lives were a blessing and whose memories continue to be a blessing!

Again, THANK YOU and L'Shanah Tovah Tikatevul!

Jewish Roots in Southern Soil: A New History* edited by Marcie Cohen Ferris and Mark I. Greenberg

This non-fiction book is a collection of essays by historians who have studied various aspects of Jewish life in the South from Colonial times to the present. Each essay is thoroughly researched with a reference page at the end of each one. Topics covered include Askenazim and Sephardim in 18th century Savannah; a multi-generational study of the Mordecai family in North Carolina; Southern Jewish women writers; peddlers in the South who eventually established their own stores; Jewish involvement in the Confederacy; how Reform Judaism came to prevail in the South in the 19th century; black-Jewish relations in the 20th century South; Southern Jewish food ways; Southern Jewishness in literature and film; the decline of Judaism in small towns and the rise of it in large cities in the 21st century. Always there has been the struggle between the desire to be true to one's Jewish roots while simultaneously being true to one's Southern roots. The book was fascinating. And the reference pages led me to add several other books to my To Read list.

Other non-fiction books I have enjoyed on the lives of Jews in the South:

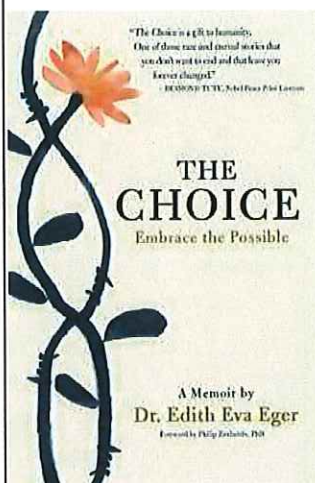

The Peddler's Grandson: Growing Up Jewish in Mississippi by Edward Cohen

The Jew Store by Stella Suberman

Jews in Early Mississippi by Leo E. Turitz and Evelyn Turitz

The Choice: Embrace the Possible* by Edith Eva Eger (Non-fiction)

This memoir begins the first night of Passover, 1944, in Hungary. Edith, her parents, and her two sisters are well aware that the trap is closing in on them. What they don't know is that this very night, Nazis will invade their home, and life as they knew it will never be the same. The family is among the thousands shipped to Auschwitz via cattle car.

Sister Klara is a violin prodigy and is off studying in Vienna. Sister Magda is the risk-taker of the three. And Edith, age 16, is a ballerina and gymnast. Upon arrival at the camp, the family faces a selection by Joseph Mengele. Both parents are “disappeared” immediately. That evening Mengele trolls among the “survivors” for artistic talent. Girls who know Edith push her forward. “The Blue Danube” plays, and Edith is forced to dance for Mengele—the very day her parents are murdered. Thus, begins Edith and Magda's year in Hell.

But Edith is determined not to let the horrors “erase” who she is at the core. After the war she convinces herself that the best way to cope, is to never mention her experiences to anyone. She thinks if she doesn't acknowledge her past, she can bury it. Eventually she realizes that she has allowed the past to imprison her in the present. She studies psychology, eventually earning a PhD in clinical psychology. And, thus, she breaks free from her past and uses her knowledge and experiences to lead her patients to break the chains that inhibit them.

Other Holocaust books read this month:

The Only Woman in the Room by Marie Benedict (Experiences of Hedy Lamarr--Recommended by Ania Bender)

King of the Jews by Leslie Epstein (A fictionalized account of life in the Lodz ghetto—Recommended by myjewishlearning.com)

If your local library does not have any of these books, ask them to order a copy for you on Inter-Library Loan. ILL has been an invaluable resource for me.

YIZKOR
Kol Israel Chapel
Sunday, October 20, 2019 - 6:00 PM

For most of us, a day, an hour, a minute doesn't pass when we don't think of loved ones who have gone from this world and are present to us only through the blessing of memory. Memory and grief are lonely journeys. The irony is that every one of us will make this journey; at one time or another, for one loved one or another. Jewish tradition's response to this lonely journey is to create opportunities for a "community of grief and memory" to come together throughout the year to remember and to bless. This is the purpose of YIZKOR. Four times during the year: Yom Kippur, Sukkot, Pesach (Passover) and Shavuot, we gather as a congregation of mourners. Those whose losses are more recent stand alongside those whose experiences are more remote. Together we support each other and remind one another that the light can and will return; that hope and blessing remain alive. Please join us for Yizkor Worship, Sunday, October 20th beginning at 6:00 pm in the Kol Israel Chapel.
