TEMPLE EMANUEL

A sacred Jewish journey to enrich lives

FROM OUR TEMPLE RABBI

Friends,

As October arrives and the High Holy Days come to a close, our Jewish tradition asks us to move from the seriousness of Yom Kippur directly into Sukkot, a holiday that the Torah calls Z'man Simchateinu, "the Season of Our Joy."

I have always found that transition fascinating. On Yom Kippur, we spend the day in prayer, introspection, and teshuvah. We think about where we have fallen short and how we might begin again. And then, just a few days later, we are told: Rejoice! Build a sukkah. Gather with family and friends. Shake the lulav and etrog. Eat, sing, laugh, and celebrate. But what makes Sukkot especially meaningful is where we are asked to experience this joy: inside a fragile, temporary sukkah. Jewish tradition deliberately places us in this vulnerable space and tells us to rejoice.

Perhaps that's the point. Our homes, our jobs, our routines, our health, our plans, and even some of our relationships, can change in ways we never anticipated. We spend a great deal of our lives trying to create stability, security and permanence, but Sukkot reminds us that no structure we build can make life completely permanent or predictable. The holiday teaches us that joy does not require certainty. In fact, the Torah connects the joy of Sukkot with something else: community. We are commanded to rejoice with our families, but also with the "stranger." In other words, with those who might otherwise be left outside of our circle. Joy is not something we are meant to keep to ourselves. We deepen our own joy when we share it with others. And, joy in Judaism is deeper than that. It's the ability to recognize the blessings that are present even when life remains uncertain.

That is why the tradition of ushpizin, the symbolic guests we welcome into our sukkah, is so beautiful. We symbolically invite Abraham and Sarah, Moses and Miriam, David and other figures from our tradition to join us. But perhaps the more important question is: Who are the people in our own lives who need an invitation? Who might be waiting for someone to say, "Come in. There's a place for you here"? A sukkah may be temporary, but the relationships created inside it can last a lifetime.

Friends, as we enter this Autumn season, may we remember that the sukkah we build in our Social Hall will eventually be taken down, but the energy we create inside it does not have to disappear. May we carry that feeling with us into the months ahead, and may this truly be a Z'man Simchateinu, a "Season of Our Joy" for our temple family.

Chag Sameach!
Rabbi Jon Nelson

FROM OUR TEMPLE PRESIDENT

We sorted, packed, trashed and gave away books, furniture, pictures and decorations. We are still giving away books and other items. Then we moved out of the Administration Building and into the Sanctuary Building. The closing for the sale of the building was on September 8th and the money is in the bank. Things may be a little messy but have patience and in time it will all be placed and organized.

We had a couple of days to catch our breath and the High Holidays were here. Thanks to the Temple Emanuel Board of Trustees for providing the Rosh Hashanah Luncheon which was delicious and well attended. Temple Emanuel Sisterhood provided a scrumptious Break-the-Fast meal after Yom Kippur Service. It was obvious that the meal was scrumptious because almost every bowl and platter were empty!

Sarah Pessink is our Temple Administrative Office Manager but she is also a Temple Congregant. We are very lucky to have such a skilled person to be in our Office. When Sarah comes to Services please DO NOT ask her to do something that she would do or handle in the Temple Office. Rather, send her an email to templeoffice@emanuelbeaumont.org and it will be handled during office hours. Please allow Sarah to come to Temple and worship as any Congregant should be allowed to do. Thank you for your help in the above!

Autumn is coming and cool weather is just around the corner. I have a feeling that we are all ready for Autumn with her cool weather and colorful leaves.

September was a busy month and we managed many sisterhood activities! A few Memorial Books are still in the lobby if anyone wants a copy.

Thanks to Sherry and her crew for another successful Break Fast.

On Friday, October 2nd, we will have the Sukkot/Fall Feast after services as a Potluck. Please RSVP to Sarah in the office.

We have a 3rd request from the Women's Shelter, our ongoing Mitzvah project. They are in need of bath towels, pillows, and blankets. If anyone would like to donate new items, please contact me and we can coordinate delivery.

Wednesday, November 4th, will be our Mahj Day of Fun with a patriotic red, white and blue theme. Helpers are needed for this event, kitchen, set up and registration.

Our next TES Board meeting will be Tuesday, October 6th at noon in the social hall with an option lunch at Jason's at Gateway at 11am. All sisterhood members are welcome.

Thanks,
Laura Thomas

OCTOBER 2026

Several members of the Temple Emanuel Brotherhood assisted in acting as ushers during the High Holidays and to each of you who participated, I want to express my appreciation and say thank you. By the time you read this, Temple Emanuel Brotherhood will have also participated in our annual Succah construction.

October brings with it so many activities and a hope for cooler weather! On Saturday,, October 24, Lamar University will host Houston Christian in a conference football game and it would be a fun event to attend as a group. Please let me know if you are interested and I will get tickets in advance and you can pay me when we get to the game.

It has also been suggested that we might consider learning the basics of Pickleball, a new sport that is sweeping the country. If you are interested, please let me know and we will make arrangements to have someone show us how the game is played.

Respectfully,
Mike Getz
Brotherhood President

August 24, 2026

Dear Friends,

Because of your support over the years, Beaumont Jewish Federation has provided the following and more as part of its mission of Jews helping Jews in times of need:

- Partial Scholarships for Temple Emanuel teenagers to experience Israel. In a timely manner, each teenager must make his/her wish known by writing a letter to Beaumont Jewish Federation explaining why he/she wants to go to Israel. The letter must include the name and address of the sponsoring organization. The check will be sent to the sponsoring organization.
- Assistance to Temple Emanuel families in a quiet manner providing dignity.
- Awareness of special UJA-Federation campaigns that bring Jews to freedom in Israel and the United States.

As is the local tradition of Beaumont Jewish Federation, rather than approaching the Jewish community for an annual gift, we approach the Jewish community when funds are needed. And now is such a time! THANK YOU!

Please provide your financial support by sending your check as follows:

TEMPLE EMANUEL SOCIAL JUSTICE COMMITTEE (TESJ)

Dear Congregational Family and Friends of Temple Emanuel,

The TESJ Committee, just as we have for 18 years, continues to offer a plethora of Torah in Action opportunities that support Temple Emanuel's Love Thy Neighbor Initiative. Please give Tzedakah (time, talent, treasure) making a Tikkun Olam/Mitzvah difference in Beaumont and beyond. Please support what speaks to your heart:

Please give Tzedakah for Temple Emanuel's High Holy Days Fund Drive... benefitting the clients of the Southeast Texas Food Bank...ongoing until the end of October...helping those in need of all ages in 7 counties...NOTE: $1.00 = 3 meals!

The Temple Emanuel check from the Social Justice Fund will be sent to Southeast Texas Food Bank on November 1st, so please send your checks or make your charges prior to then.

Tzedakah is also encouraged for even more SETX focused non-profits:

- Beaumont Pets Alive for saving homeless dogs and cats
- Nutrition & Services for Seniors providing food on a daily basis
- Stable-Spirit for equine-assisted learning scholarships
- Women & Children's Shelter of Family Services of SETX

PLUS: Used eyeglasses continue to be collected on behalf of the Lions Club

To help you to fulfill the Mitzvah of giving Tzedakah, please call Sarah Pessink in Temple Office 409.832.6131

THANK YOU for making a Mitzvah/Tikkun Olam Difference!
HEALTH & HAPPINESS from TESJ!
